

CONTENTS

List of Illustrations	xi
Acknowledgments	xv
1. INTRODUCTION: HUNGARY AND THE HABSBURGS IN THE EARLY MODERN PERIOD	1
Prejudices and Debatable Interpretations	1
Turning Points in the History of the Kingdom of Hungary and of the Habsburg Monarchy	6
The Fateful but Little Known Sixteenth Century	8
The Fallacy of the Projection of the Nation-State Concept onto the Early Modern Era	10
On Sources and New Researches	13
2. BETWEEN OTTOMANS AND HABSBURGS	17
A Small Composite State: The Kingdom of Hungary in the Late Middle Ages	17
A Country to be Conquered: The Ottomans and Hungary	23
A Much Coveted Throne: The Habsburgs and the Kingdom of Hungary	27
3. MOHÁCS AND PARTITION	35
The Battle that Determined Central Europe's Fate	35
Two Kings on the Throne of Hungary	37
Civil War and Partition	41
A Very Important but Dangerous Bulwark	48
4. VIENNA, THE NEW ADMINISTRATIVE CENTER OF HUNGARY	53
The Composite Monarchy of the Habsburgs in Central Europe	53

The Political and Centralization Program of Ferdinand I	59
Vienna: Fortress, Residence, and Center of Political Decision Making	65
5. HUNGARIAN ARISTOCRACY AND THE HABSBURG COURT	71
The Joint Habsburg Court and the Virtual Royal Hungarian One	71
Difficulties with the Viennese and Prague Integration	76
The Options of the Hungarian Political Elite after Integration	82
Beginnings of a Supranational Aristocracy	86
6. DEFENDING THE COMPOSITE STATE	89
Hungary, an Important but Largely Unknown Bulwark	89
The Protective Bastion of the Monarchy: The New Border-Defense System	94
The Price of Foreign Assistance	104
The Importance of a Military Career	109
The Sixteenth Century Military Revolution	112
7. HUNGARY'S FINANCIAL CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE MONARCHY	119
Hungary, a Dangerous but Wealthy Country	119
Financial Administration Reforms in Hungary	121
An Important Source of Revenues for the Monarchy: The Revenues of the Kingdom of Hungary	129
The Beginning of Administrative Careers in Hungary	134
8. FEEDING CENTRAL EUROPE	139
In the Economic Mainstream of Europe	140
A Fragmented Country—Close Economic Ties	145
The Larder of the Habsburg Court—The Military- Industrial Market of the Monarchy	149
The Flowering of Hungarian Enterprises in the Sixteenth Century	153

9. INSTITUTIONS OF SOVEREIGNTY	157
Sovereignty in a Composite State	157
Election of a King or Acceptance of One	161
The Hungarian Council and the Highest Dignitaries of the Country	168
The Principal Arena of Estate Resistance: The Diet	177
Dispensing Justice, the Legal System, and Self- Government of the Nobility	186
10. SYMBOLS OF SOVEREIGNTY	193
Preservation of the Unity of St. Stephen's Realm	193
The Titles, Coats of Arms and Banners of the Hungarian Rulers	194
Coronations in Pozsony: A Virtual Hungarian Royal Court	200
The Kingdom of Hungary in the Dynastic Representations of the Habsburgs: Coronations and Funerals in the Monarchy	204
11. THE HUNGARIAN ESTATES AND THE BOCSKAI UPRISING	209
Hungary in Ruins, Armed Counter-Reformation, Shaky Political Equilibrium	209
The "Turkish Emigration" from Transylvania, the Transtisza Haiduks and the Estates of Upper Hungary	213
Uprising, Local and Countrywide Civil War among the Estates	217
Rearrangement of Power in 1605–1608: Strength- ening of the Estates and Advances of the Lay Elite and of the Lesser Nobility	221
12. CONCLUSION: CHANGES AFTER 1526 IMPACTING THE CENTURIES TO FOLLOW	235
Appendix A	245
List of Rulers and Highest Dignitaries of Hungary	247

Appendix B	257
Gazetteer	259
Appendix C	267
Hungarian Baronial Appointments and Justifications for the Patents	269
Abbreviations	273
Notes	279
Archival Collections and Published Sources	351
Figures	363
Maps	375
Name Index	385
Place Index	397
About the Author	407
Books Published by CHSP	408